

Sports Flooring Springs Ahead

A.S.F. Horner is the Pacific's leading supply and installation company of specialized sprung timber floors. Focussing on sports flooring, the company provides floors for small community facilities all the way up to large international arenas.

Among the company's products is a portable flooring system, Pro-King, which combines superior playing characteristics and the fastest assembly available. Pro-King exceeds the competitive performance standards inherent in permanent floors and the fast downtime requirements of a multi-event facility. Pro-King was chosen for the 1999 World Netball Championships in Christchurch New Zealand and the Sydney 2000 Olympic and Paralympics Games.

Other sports floors in the ASF Horner range include the "PR" floors - a unique cushion design which provides shock-absorbing, fatigue reducing floors. This system is designed to maintain proper resiliency and uniform bounce, ideal for active sports applications.

In a further advance, the "Stump Thrust System", designed and developed by A.S.F. Horner in Australia is the most technically sophisticated, independently sprung sports flooring system available.

Stump Thrust is the ideal choice for sloping sites, sites with rocky or bad soil conditions and a sound alternative to slab on-ground construction.
