Western Sydney IT Cluster

The Western Sydney IT Cluster aims to promote the capabilities of Western Sydney's ICT businesses by expanding local and global markets and providing knowledge and technology diffusion opportunities.

The cluster provides openings for small and medium enterprises to network and collaborate with each other. It encourages interaction with professional and specialist service providers. It finds business opportunities and gains access to funding and business support programs from leading government agencies.

This all helps cluster members retain their competitive edge. More than 200 companies are registered with the Western Sydney IT Cluster.

It is Australia's largest gathering of IT small and medium enterprises and boasts strong ties with industry associations, government agencies, research and educational institutions and private organisations that provide professional and specialist services.
