Home-Based Business Week 2009

22 May 2009

Thousands of men and women across NSW are managing successful home-based businesses by thinking creatively, and using innovative business techniques.

The NSW Government is backing these home-based business people by supporting Home-based Business Week from 25 – 29 May, with events across New South Wales, from Parkes to Parramatta, from Byron Bay to Bathurst.

Topics range from e-marketing to building a business brand. Each event is a great opportunity for home-based operators to learn the latest business ideas.

Home-based Business Week begins with the Changing Face of Home-based Business seminar on Monday May 25.

Robert Gerrish of Flying Solo interviews three successful home-based business operators about how technology plays a part in their success.

The Changing Face of Home-based Business seminar is on Monday May 25 at the NSW Government's Trade and Investment Centre, Level 47, the MLC Centre starting at 10.30 am, finishing at 2.30 pm.
