PRIMARY INDUSTRIES

New South Wales
Aquaculture Industry Directory
2008 - 09

Introduction

---

This fourth edition of the NSW Aquaculture Industry Directory has been produced by the Department of State and Regional Development and the Department of Primary Industries to highlight the diversity of farmed seafood available from New South Wales, and the range of services and equipment available to support the development of aquaculture activities in this State.

The directory enables buyers to contact growers and suppliers of farmed seafood. It also helps existing and prospective aquaculture operators to network with other industry stakeholders and identify sources of products and services that are relevant to their operations.

This directory also serves to demonstrate to potential investors that NSW aquaculture is an industry with sound infrastructure. As such, it forms an integral part of the NSW Government's aquaculture strategy that aims to ensure that NSW is able to capture a solid share of the growth in the aquaculture industry in Australia.

Section 1 of the directory identifies producers of various species farmed in New South Wales, including molluscs, crustaceans and finfish.

Section 2 details suppliers of ancillary goods and services. These range from hatcheries and product/equipment suppliers to providers of a range of professional services applicable to the industry. This section also highlights the educational and research and development infrastructure that is in position to support the continued growth of the industry. For the first time, the directory also lists aquaculture producers that have facilities to attract tourists.
